Subject: Reheat International Selected as Repair Center for Europe, Middle East & Africa.

We are pleased to announce that Adams Rite Aerospace and Reheat International have executed a Letter of Intent to establish Reheat International Limited as the authorized Adams Rite repair center for all Europe, Middle East and Africa customers.

Reheat International has been a leading player in the repair and overhaul of interior components since 1998. Their singular focus on superior customer service and fast turn around time coupled with excellent skills & capabilities are an ideal partner for Adams Rites extensive installed base of products in the region.

This is an ideal partnership for Adams Rite Aerospace, one that we believe will further enhance our airline customer support and reputation as a quality supplier and supporter of custom engineered components and systems.

Both companies are now in the process of commissioning repair capability at Reheat's UK MRO facility in Alton, Hampshire and further announcements will follow shortly when this has been fully completed.

In the mean time please contact either Kevin McHenry or Neil Watkins for further details. For additional information on Adams Rite products and capabilities please visit www.ar-aero.com and for further information on Reheat International's capabilities and services please visit www.reheat.aero.
